THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

BATIMORE, June 4.—This afternoon's American says a gentleman who left the front at 9 o'clock Friday morning represents the attack reported by Gen. Grant as having opened with the fiercest cannonading along the whole line. Cannonading could be heard as he proceeded down the peninsula. One important fact reported by our informant is that the army is in the best possible condition and spirits. They have never in any previous campaign been so well supplied. There was abundant provisions constantly going forward. The whole army worships Gen. Grant, and say he is the only man who has given them a chance to fight. The belief was universal both among the troops and residents of the country in the vicinity of Richmond, that the rebel capital must fall. There had been no attempted raid on the White House, as reported, and consequently the rumored capture of Fitz Hugh Lee and his cavalry was unfounded. The White House presents a scene of activity unprecedented even during McClellan's campaign.

FR. MONROE, June 3.—The Steamer Johnny Warner arrived from Bermuda Hundred, she reports that the enemy made a slight attack on our breastworks, at nine o'clock last evening, without effect and retreated. A Confederate Lieutenant and 30 privates who came into our lines yesterday arrived on the Warner, a steamer just arrived from the White House. He reports that there was heavy cannonading going on all day yesterday and just before night the sound grew further off. There are no further particulars.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Tribune's special dated June 1, says Sheridan's cavalry, the night previous, drove the rebels down the Mechanicsville pike, within five miles of Richmond. Our enterprisers were considerably advanced, and the impression prevails that Lee had withdrawn his main force within the inner defenses of Richmond. His losses the past two days must have been severe, largely in excess of ours. Contrabands report the citizens of Richmond in great fright. The enemy left all their dead and wounded in front of Warren, and the night was sad and sickening. June 2d.—Yesterday the 6th corps and Baldy Smith's force, made a heavy charge, carrying the first line of the enemy's works and taking 600 or 800 prisoners. The rebels made tremendous assaults, and were fruitfully slaughtered. Hancock also repulsed similar attacks, inflicting severe loss. The fighting was most desperate. The enemy's loss must have been 2,000 or 3,000; ours 400 or 500. Burnside's corps showed equal valor in repulsing an attack. FR. MONROE, June 4.—A rebel Major came in to Gen. Butler's lines at Bermuda Hundred yesterday, who says that the federal forces are at Secessionville, and are threatening Charleston. The commander has telegraphed the rebel authorities for reinforcements, saying that unless he receives them immediately Charleston is lost. The steamer Thos. Powell arrived from Bermuda Hundred at 4 p. m. There have been active operations there since last accounts. The steamer May Flower was fired into up the James river this morning. No damage done. Heavy cannonading was heard in the direction of Richmond last night.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Maj. Gen. Dix: A dispatch from Gen. Grant's Headquarters, dated 8:30 last night, has been received. It states that at about 7 P. M. yesterday, Friday the 3d, the enemy suddenly attacked Smith's brigade of Gibbons' division. The battle lasted with great fury for half an hour. The attack was unwaveringly repulsed. Smith's losses were inconsiderable. At six P. M. Wilson with his cavalry fell upon the rear of a brigade of Heath's division which Lee had drawn around to his left, apparently with the intention of enveloping Burnside. After a sharp but short conflict, Wilson drove them from their rifle pits in confusion. He took a few prisoners. He had previously fought and routed Gordon's brigade of rebel cavalry. During these fights he lost several officers, among them Col. Preston, 1st Vermont; Col. Benjamin 8th N. Y. Cavalry, seriously wounded. Gen. Stannard, serving in the 18th corps, was severely wounded yesterday, Friday. Our entire loss in killed, wounded and missing during the three days' operations around Cold Harbor, will not exceed, according to the Adjutant General's report, 256.

This morning, Saturday June 4th, the enemy's left wing, in front of Burnside was found to have been withdrawn during the night. Col. Cessford, in command of 6,000 men, arrived here yesterday, having marched from Port Royal. Telegraphic communication between Cherry Stone and Fort Monroe continues uninterrupted. A dispatch from Gen. Sherman, dated Saturday, the 4th, at 8 o'clock A. M., 13 miles west of Marietta, reports that his left is now well around covering all roads from the south to the railroad about Ackworth. His cavalry have been in Ackworth and occupy in force all the Altamaha pass. No other military intelligence has been received by this department. E. M. STANTON.

FROM WASHINGTON.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Herald's Washington special says Gen. Buell has resigned and his resignation accepted. It is understood that he resumes his original position in the regular army as Colonel and Assistant Adjutant General. WASHINGTON, June 3.—The committee of Ways and Means have now reported all the general appropriation bills.

NAVAL CAPTURE.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Navy Department has received information of the capture of Wilmington of the steamer Calcutta. She is a side wheel, very long, 1350 tons burthen, built on the Clyde and cleared from Nassau for Wilmington.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Steamer Connecticut which left the White House yesterday, reports that on Thursday large clouds of smoke to be seen in the direction of Richmond. It was the belief at the White House that a disastrous conflagration was in progress at the rebel capital. Several of the rebel wounded brought up by the Connecticut say that Gen. Lee had been taken sick and gone back to Richmond, leaving the army under the command of Ewell. 800 rebel prisoners have already reached the White House and others are on their way down.

A contraband camp has been established at the White House, which already contains about 1,000, and they still continue to come in.

The Richmond and York River Railroad is being rapidly repaired, the bridge over the Pamunkey was completed Monday, and cars have been carried in a barge from Alexandria. The steamer State of Maine arrived this morning, bringing up 400 wounded from the late battles in Virginia.

The steamer Connecticut also arrived today, having left White House yesterday morning with 875 sick and wounded, including 55 officers. Repair shops for the army are being established at White House, and the place looks like a city of business. Gen. Abernethy is in command of the post, and has the general supervision of the landing of troops, etc. Capt. Pitkin, Asst. A. M. and Sanitary Commissioner and Christian Commission are also there, all well supplied with a large supply of hospital supplies of every kind.

A number of wounded of the 2d and 5th corps were reaching White House when the Connecticut left. Hospital tents with accommodations for 3,000 or 4,000 patients have been erected there.

NEW YORK, June 5th.—The Herald's Port Monroe dispatch of the 3d says the rebels continue to waste gunpowder on Butler's formidable works.

Gen. Kautz was to have started out again on an important mission on the night of the 2d. Its destination was to a point of the most vital importance to the enemy, and will assist Gen. Grant materially.

A Northern mechanist came into our lines on the 1st from Richmond. He reports Lee to have fallen back into the Richmond intrenchments. Mayor Mayo had been arrested and imprisoned in Castle Thunder for proposing to surrender the city in case of necessity, instead of burning it. Every man and boy, even foreign subjects, were pressed into service.

The rebel papers complain of Johnston, and say he is whipped. They also say Lee is sick and confined to his bed in Richmond. Grant has kept him so busy for the past month that even his iron frame had to succumb to the great fatigue.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Herald's correspondent has details of Wednesday's fighting. He says our line of battle extended fully ten miles in length, from N. W. to S. E. Hancock's line was on the Mechanicsville road, and the rifle pits wrested from the enemy two days before. The defenses were made impregnable to an ordinary assault. Burnside's corps was not on high ground. Warren was thrown a little forward, protected in front by double and triple lines of the most formidable kind of breastworks. Wright's corps was marched to the left, with two divisions of Sheridan's cavalry in the front and flank. An effort was made by rebel infantry early in the day to drive our cavalry from Cold Harbor, but it resulted in the rebels, killing and wounding a large number, and taking between 200 and 300 prisoners. The rebels were reinforced for another attack, but Wright coming up enabled us to hold the place and take more prisoners. Wright followed up his success and brought on an engagement which lasted till an hour after dark. At that time we had carried a rebel line of rifle pits and driven the enemy to the Chickahominy river.

The enemy then made a furious assault line in the evening upon our right and center. They marched in three lines upon Warren, determined to pierce the center and throw the line into confusion. Attempt after attempt was made, and the men hurled to certain destruction. The battle raged fully three hours in front of this corps. Our loss at this point can be truly a little that the enemy sustained. The attack on Hancock's corps nearly simultaneously. He not only repulsed them, but pushed them back so far that he was drawn into a bad position, and was compelled to make a retreat and resume the ground he occupied at the outset. The object of Hancock's advance, however, was apparently a ruse. He was immediately ordered to abandon his position and move his corps from the right to the extreme left. Another correspondent of the 18th corp says, of the fighting at Coal Harbor the enemy were in heavy force between Coal Harbor and Guinea's Mills and was, strongly entrenched in the edge of dense woods, they had rifle pits and other breastworks thrown up. At 3:30 the troops were in position in three lines of battle, at 5 o'clock a skirmishing commenced. A battery of twenty-pounders opened fire upon the rebels and the roar of its guns soon completely swayed the rebel line. At 5:30 an order was received for both corps, the 6th and the 15th to charge on the rebel works in our front. Hancock's divisions pushed through the woods in the front, and forced like a tornado over the open works on their right, and the rebels opened with grape and canister and heavy musketry, and the 1st was badly cut up. The 2d mingled with it, then the 3d, and almost immediately after a wild inspiring cheer rang above any other sound, as the rebels were driven pell mell from their works and through the woods. The rebels were rallied behind their reserves and attempted to recapture their lost position. They rushed forward but were received with so close and murderous a fire of artillery and musketry that they broke and fled in confusion. Again and again they were rallied and returned to the charge, but only returned to be driven back with greater slaughter.

The correspondent says 510 rebel soldiers belonging to the 16th and 18th G. volunteers came into our lines at daybreak on the 2nd. They say they are tired of fighting and do not want any more of it. They advise our men to go in and fight it out as this was the last fight for Richmond and we could take it this time. They represent the rebel army becoming one day more and more demoralized with their constant reverses.

A Coal Harbor dispatch of the 3d to the Herald states that a general attack was ordered along the whole line at 11 o'clock this morning, resulting in the fiercest fight of the campaign.

The left of Hancock's corps after a desperate resistance turned the enemy's left, carrying a portion of their main line, capturing guns, colors and many prisoners, but unfortunately being unable to hold the ground, or bring off the guns. The battle still rages with a promise of a bloody day.

A Fort Monroe dispatch of the 3d to the Herald says, a dispatch has been received from Baldy Smith that the rebels attacked him with three columns, but were driven off after a desperate fight. Smith is reported to have captured 600 prisoners. Gen. Grant is pushing the enemy at every point.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Herald's special says, Gen. Fremont has resigned the Major-Generalship which has been accepted him by the President.

NATIVE WINES.—Sacred History abounds in allusions to wine, and as there are thirteen distinct Hebrew terms used in the Bible to distinguish vintages of different kinds, condition and ages, it is evident that the "ancient people" were no less particular in the matter of "brands" than are the people of the present day. The Greek and Romans had two hundred varieties, of which the "Palernian" was the choicest; and the products of particular vineyards were highly esteemed in Athens and Rome, as the Cluquet and Metternich wines now are in London and Paris. The wines of antiquity were often villainously adulterated. The art of "doctoring" the juice of the grape is so far from being a modern invention that it dates back to the siege of Troy. Helen, the fair and frail, is said to have learned the trick in Egypt, and to have practised it for the sake of increasing the exhilarating properties of the wine she gave to the defenders of the city after a hard battle with the Greeks.

The safest and best of all exhilarants is good wine. Many physicians and matrons suppose we must have foreign wine. There is one hundred times the quantity of wines exported from France, Spain and Germany, than can be manufactured there from the quantity of grapes. There is but one safeguard, and that is to use our pure native wines. Imported wines now pay a heavy duty, and a bottle of real Port or Sherry can only be obtained at a high price. There is no duty or tax on native wines—therefore, in the name of purity and economy, let us have our own native wines.

Messrs. Bennett Pieters & Co., of Chicago, always have an assorted stock of fine imported wines in U. S. bonded warehouses, from the most reliable houses of France, Spain and Germany, also brandies, gins, rums, &c.; and have for the past three years been making extensive preparations for the manufacture of home-made wines. They have the most extensive arrangements with fruit growers, and in the proper season they gather strawberries, cherries, peaches, blackberries, raspberries, &c., &c., to an enormous amount. Their strawberry, cherry, blackberry, raspberry and muscat wines far excel many of the imported wines, both in purity and exhilarating effects. Many of these home-made wines are being largely adulterated, and many a bottle of cherry wine is sold, which never had a drop of cherry juice in it. Buy none but those with the unmistakable label of Bennett Pieters & Co. These gentlemen are men of high respectability, and guarantee every article from their house, pure and unadulterated. may20dawlm.

Repair shops for the army are being established at White House, and the place looks like a city of business. Gen. Abernethy is in command of the post, and has the general supervision of the landing of troops, &c. Capt. Pitkin, Asst. A. M. and Sanitary Commission and Christian Commissioners are there in full force with a large supply of hospital supplies of every kind.

A number of wounded of the 2d and 3d corps were reaching White House when the Connecticut left. Hospital tents with accommodations for 2,000 or 4,000 patients have been erected there.

NEW YORK, June 5th.—The Herald's Fort Monroe dispatch of the 3d says the rebels continue to waste gunpowder on Butler's formidable works.

Gen. Kautz was to have started out again on an important mission on the night of the 2d. Its destination was to a point of the most vital importance to the enemy, and will assist Gen. Grant materially.

A Northern machine came into our lines on the 1st from Richmond. He reports Lee to have fallen back into the Richmond entrenchments. Mayor Mayo had been arrested and imprisoned in Castle Thunder for proposing to surrender the city in case of necessity, instead of burning it. Every man and boy, even foreign subjects, were pressed into service.

The rebel papers complain of Johnston, and say he is whipped. They also say Lee is sick and confined to his bed in Richmond. Grant has kept his iron frame for the past month that even his iron frame had to succumb to the great fatigue.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Herald's correspondent has details of Wednesday's fighting. He says our line of battle extended fully ten miles in length, from N. V. to S. E. Hancock's line was on the Mechanicsville road, and the rifle pits wrested from the enemy two days before. The defenses were made impregnable to an ordinary assault. Burnside's corps was not on high ground. Warren was thrown a little forward, protected in front by double and triple lines of the most formidable kind of breastworks. Wright's corps was marched to the left, with two divisions of Sheridan's cavalry in the front and flank. An effort was made by rebel infantry early in the day to drive our cavalry from Cold Harbor, but it resulted in their repulse, killing and wounding a large number, and taking between 200 and 300 prisoners. The rebels were reinforced for another attack, but Wright coming up enabled us to hold the place and take more prisoners. Wright followed up his success and brought on an engagement which lasted all day and night after dark. At that time he had carried a rebel line of rifle pits and driven the enemy to the Chickahominy river.

The enemy then made a furious assault late in the evening upon our right and center. They marched in three lines upon Warren, determined to pierce the center and throw the line into confusion. At length after attempt was made, and the men hurled to certain destruction. The battle raged fully three hours in front of this corps. Our loss at this point can be only a little of that the enemy sustained. The attack on Hancock was nearly simultaneous. He not only repulsed them, but pushed them back so far that he was drawn into a bad position, and was compelled to make a retreat and resume the ground he occupied at the outset. The object of Hancock's advance, however, was accomplished. He was immediately ordered to abandon his position and move his corps from the right to the extreme left. Another correspondent of the 18th corp. says, of the fighting at Cold Harbor the enemy were in heavy force between Cold Harbor and Gain's Mills and was strongly entrenched in the edge of dense woods, they had rifle pits and other breastworks thrown up. At 3:30 the troops were in position in three lines of battle, at 5 skirmishing commenced. A battery of twenty-pounders opened fire upon the rebels and the roar of its guns soon completely swallowed all sounds from the skirmishing line. At 5:30 an order was received for both corps, the 6th and the 18th to charge on the rebel works in our front. Brooks' divisions pushed through the woods in its front, and forced like a tornado over the enemy works on their right, and the rebels opened with grape and canister and heavy musketry, and the 1st was badly cut up. The 2d mingled with it, then the 3d, and almost immediately after a wild inspiring cheer rang above any other sound, as the rebels were driven pell mell from their works and through the woods. The rebels were rallied behind their reserves and attempted to recapture their lost position. They rushed forward but were received with so close and murderous a fire of artillery and musketry that they broke and fled in confusion. Again and again they were rallied and returned to the charge, but only to be driven back to greater slaughter.

The correspondent says 510 rebel soldiers belonging to the 16th and 18th G. A. volunteers came into our lines at daybreak on the 2nd. They say they are tired of fighting and do not want any more of it. They advise our men to go in and fight it out as this was the last fight for Richmond and we could take it this time. They represent the rebel army becoming each day more and more demoralized with their own losses.

A dispatch from the 3d to the Herald states that a general attack was ordered along the whole line at 11 o'clock this morning, resulting in the fiercest fight of the campaign.

The left of Hancock's corps after a desperate resistance turned the enemy's left, carrying a portion of their main line, capturing guns, colors and many prisoners, but unfortunately being unable to hold the ground, or bring off the guns. The battle still rages with a promise of a bloody day.

A Fort Monroe dispatch of the 3d to the Herald says, a dispatch has been received from Baldy Smith that the rebels attacked him with three columns, but were driven off after a desperate fight. Smith is reported to have captured 400 prisoners. Gen. Grant is pushing the enemy at every point.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Herald's special says, Fremont has resigned the Major-Generalship which has been accepted by him by the President.

NATIVE WINES.—Sacred History abounds in allusions to wine, and as there are thirteen distinct Hebrew terms used in the Bible to distinguish varieties of different kinds, condition and ages, it is evident that the "ancient people" were no less particular in the matter of "brands" than are the people of the present day. The Greek and Romans had two hundred varieties, of which the "Palermian" was the choicest; and the products of particular vineyards were as highly esteemed in Athens and Rome, as the Cliquet and Metternich wines now are in London and Paris. The wines of antiquity were often villainously adulterated. The art of "doctoring" the juice of the grape is so far from being a modern invention that it dates back to the siege of Troy. Helen, the fair and frail, is said to have learned the trick in Egypt, and to have practised it for the sake of increasing the exhilarating properties of the wine she gave to the defenders of the city after a hard battle with the Greeks.

The safest and best of all exhilarants is good wine. Many physicians and matrons suppose we must have foreign wine. There is one hundred times the quantity of wines exported from France, Spain and Germany, than can be manufactured there from the quantity of grapes. There is but one safeguard, and that is to use our pure native wines. Imported wines now pay a heavy duty, and a bottle of real Port or Sherry can only be obtained at a high price. There is no duty or tax on native wines—therefore, in the name of purity and economy, let us have our own native wines.

Messrs. Bennett Pieters & Co., of Chicago, always have an assorted stock of fine imported wines in U. S. bonded warehouses, from the most reliable houses of France, Spain and Germany, also brandies, gins, rums, &c.; and have for the past three years been making extensive preparations for the manufacture of home-made wines. They have the most extensive arrangements with fruit growers, and in the proper season they gather strawberries, cherries, peaches, blackberries, raspberries, &c., to an enormous amount. Their strawberry, cherry, blackberry, raspberry and muscat wines far excel many of the imported wines, both in purity and exhilarating effects. Many of these home-made wines are being largely adulterated, and many a bottle of cherry wine is sold, which never had a drop of cherry juice in it. Buy none but those with the unmistakable label of Bennett Pieters & Co. These gentlemen are men of high respectability, and guarantee every article from their house, pure and unadulterated.
